GARY HIOTT, MANAGER

The Sentinel is not responsible for the views of its correspondents.

Obituary notices and tributes of respect of not over one hundred words will be printed free of charge. All over that number must be paid for at the rate of one cent a word. Cash to accompany manuscript. Cards of thanks published for one-half cent a word.

All Colies seem to be good runners.

All kinds of garden sass is ripe in Pickens now.

"Finnish boat torpedoed"—war dispatch. A sad finish.

Leave it to Teddy. He knows how to get on the front page.

We have with us this merry month of May five (5) paydays!

Beck beer is "in our midst"—that is, it is on tap now where there is any.

What kind of meat does it appear that Pickens people like best? Track meet.

"College students consider whiskey," goes a headline. If they will drop it right there, all will be well.

Up to the hour of going to press, Secretary of the Navy Daniels was still boss of the navy department.

If you doubt for a single moment that our babies are not growing prettier and prettier, just ask the fond mammas!

Most any old maid knows at least half a dozen men who could have married her if—any of them had just asked her.

Why is a scientist heralded as a benefactor because he discovers a new disease? Haven't we enough pests now?

Diamonds will soon be a drug on the market. The poor brewers and saloon-keepers won't have anything to buy with.

This year was the first time the Pickens school track team was ever in the state track meet and the other teams hope it will be the last.

There is one thing that the Allies' blockade can't keep out of Germany, and that is grit.—News and Courier.

And the stuff with the foam on.

Col. Henry Watterson, editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, has been mentioned as a candidate to fill a vacancy in the Hall of Fame. Can anyone tell us, offhand, what Marse Henry is famous for?

If Roosevelt is not nominated by the Republicans in 1916 he will, according to recent reports, stump the country against any regular Republican party may name. All of which is something for the Democrats not to worry about.

Should Italy finally get into the war it is hoped there will be an exodus from our shores of members of the Black Hand, the Mafia, and other such Italian criminal secret societies. And since they leave, Uncle Sam should see to it that they never return.

Watson Bell of the York News says "Every time we read our exchanges we are reminded that 'second class mail matter' is true in more than one sense with some publications." Yes, some of them have no class at all—first, second or third.

Fishing in South Carolina will be dry sport with that quart-a-month law.—Hartwell (Ga.) Sun. You slander us, Brother Morris. We can get a whole gallon a month! And a fishing party of seven or eight fishermen with their'n will be plenty of bait!

A. W. Brabham of Olar, S. C., is trying to find the seed from which to grow black cotton, which he says has been lost in the shuffle somewhere in "the mists of the ages." "Two birds in a gloomy looking Southland, indeed, with our fields filled up with black cotton!"

The richest part of France is held by the Germans and they are using all the French resources, which are many and varied. Which shows that the Allies have not made much headway against the Teutons, despite the war "news" being sent out of great victories by the Allies.

The Colonel says he will come back to the G. O. P. if they will nominate a Progressive for president in 1916. As the Colonel is the only Progressive left—the others having returned to the fold—it is presumed he will refuse to come in unless the regulars make him the Republican nominee.

Did you notice the slight mention in the papers of other sections given to Pickens winning the state track meet? Perhaps it was because our boys are from the "mountains." Well, fellows, we may be from the mountains, and you can keep your write-ups for the big boys, but you can't keep us from winning points a-plenty. Put that in your pipes and smoke it, old horses

OUR WEEKLY RIDDLE—How did Henry VIII differ from other men as suitors? He married his wives first and axed them afterwards.

Ever Stop to Think of This?

You owe a lot to truthful advertising. For one thing you owe something of your good health.

Today the grocer sells more articles in sanitary packages and cans than ever

Today the butcher sells meat that is more thoroughly inspected and guarded than ever.

Today the baker furnishes you with bread, pastry, etc., made under more sanitary conditions and with better materials than ever.

Advertising as a whole has done this. Our local advertisers know you expect the best, and they give it.

Paying the South's Tribute

Taking note of the fact that the dates on which the various Southern states observe Memorial Day are scattered over a period of nearly six weeks, the Raleigh News and Observer suggests for the consideration of the United Daughters of the Confederacy and the United Confederate Veterans of the South that some agreement should be reached for uniformity of observance. In Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi and Florida April 26 is observed and Monday of this week was elaborately observed throughout those commonwealths. May 10 is Memorial Day in North and South Carolina. The second Friday in May is the day in Tennessee. In Virginia the observance is held on May 30, which is also the date set apart in the states of the North as Decoration Day. In Louisiana the third day of June is observed as Confederate Memorial Day. A concerted annual tribute by the entire South to the men who gave their lives for the Confederacy would doubtless be fitting and impressive, and yet we cannot feel that uniformity is a vital element.—Charlotte Observer.

Uniformity might not be a vital element, but we believe it would be much more impressive for all the people of the Southland to set apart one and the same day to observe Memorial Day for those old soldiers. It would seem to better bind together the hearts of the people and make them feel more like brothers and sisters of the South if in each Confederate state they lay down their work and hold memorial services in honor of Confederate soldiers the same day. And then there would not be so much confusion regarding Memorial Day. The average citizen of any Southern state does not know when is Memorial Day. In South Carolina May 10 is Memorial Day, but in Pickens June 3 (Jefferson Davis' birthday) is observed instead. We believe June third should be made Memorial Day in every Confederate state.

The latest exchange to reach our desk is the Anderson Farmers' Tribune, published semi-weekly at Anderson by the Cheshire Printers and edited by John B. Adger Mullanly, with Victor B. Cheshire as guiding star. Mr. Cheshire is an experienced newspaper man and will doubtless get his share of business in his field.

Ladies go away from home to buy their hats; men go away from home to buy their clothes, and some men go away from home to be treated for certain troubles when they have the very physicians at home. For instance, there is Editor Gossett of Westminster. He got a little something wrong with his eyesight, so he puts out to Anderson to see an oculist for treatment. We are reliably informed that the doctor in question is a heart doctor and not an eye specialist at all. But after all it may be that Editor Gossett has heart trouble.

A Party of Fishermen

Out of Mt. Croghan, sitting around the camp fire, were discussing the COFFEE they had just drunk. ALL OF THEM agreed

"It Was Just Fine"

One man said, while they were talking, that he "Just Could Not Stand That

"Luzianne Coffee"

but wanted Straight Coffee. The cook told him that they had just finished drinking, and actually had to "show him" the can before he would believe it. The trouble with this fellow was, He Had Not Taken Proper Care in making Coffee out of Luzianne.

"It Was Luzianne"

Some History of Old Pickens District

By N. BOONE CAREY

THE first sheriff of Old Pickens District according to the best information I can get (not having access to the records), was Samuel Reid, a son of Joseph Reid, who was a revolutionary soldier and settled a large tract of land in the fork of Keowee and Little rivers, which is still owned by his descendants, having been in the family over one hundred years. Mr. Reid served only one term as sheriff and engaged extensively in farming the remainder of his life, except that part of it spent in the service of his country during the 60's; for, though advanced in years, he was among the first to volunteer in defense of the Southern cause. He had three sons: Joseph, who died a prisoner of war at Elmira, N. Y.; James T., who entered the army as a private, rose to the rank of captain, served throughout the war and died at the old family homestead a few years ago, bearing upon his person evidence of his bravery in wounds received in battle, and George T., who entered the army with the sixteen-year-old boys in Capt. C. L. Hollingsworth's company, and remained till the close of the bloody struggle. He is now a prominent citizen and prosperous merchant of Chappells, S. C. There were three daughters of Mr. Reid: Mrs. W. C. Keith, deceased; Mrs. L. B. Lee of Chappells, S. C., and Mrs. Warren Shelor of Anderson, S. C.

The second sheriff was Alexander Bryce, who served one term and was rather a noted character in his day, being a magistrate and for some time major of the state militia. In the days of Reconstruction he affiliated with the Republican party and was a member of the "Ringed, Streaked and Striped" convention of South Carolina. He was the father of the notorious Alexander Bryce, Jr., and Morgan H. Bryce, deceased, both of whom figured prominently in Republican politics.

James A. Doyle was the third sheriff of the old district and was a very remarkable and prominent man. He served his district in many other positions of trust and honor, always with credit to himself and honor to his country. He was a brother to the late Dr. O. M. Doyle, deceased, of Seneca, and has a large number of relatives in South Carolina and Texas. It was during the administration of Mr. Doyle that the Henderson brothers were hanged for the killing of Wilson. I have heard older people say that there was much excitement at the time, many believing one of the brothers was innocent, as the other one so declared at the trial and remained firm in this statement on the gallows. I had some very interesting anecdotes of Mr. Doyle, but I regret to say they have been misplaced.

Mr. Doyle was succeeded by L. C. Craig in the sheriff's office, who served two terms and at the beginning of the war joined the army and died of wounds received in some of the bloody battles of Virginia.

W. N. Craig, a cousin of L. C., was a war-time sheriff as well as a brave and gallant soldier. After the division of the old district he was elected sheriff of Oconee and died in office.

Samuel Thomas was the last sheriff of Old Pickens District, was a splendid citizen and made an excellent officer. He died a few years ago and has a large circle of relatives in Oconee and Pickens.

A GENTLEMAN

A man that's clean inside and out, who neither looks up to the rich nor down to the poor; who can lose without squealing and win without bragging; who is considerate of women, children and old people; who is too brave to lie, too generous to cheat and who takes his share of the world and let's other people have theirs.—New York Sun.

John Bunny, the movie actor who died recently, has perhaps received more public notice through the newspapers than any one man in the United States, though he was known only through the pictures. But he made thousands upon thousands laugh, and that ought to count for something.

Many newspapers and public men, both at home and in Mexico, are advising that the way to stop the revolution in that country is by the starvation route. This is one very effectual way to stop war anywhere, and it would work in Europe as well as in Mexico. But the trouble is, as soon as any nation gets hungry America rushes to the front and feeds them, and these same newspapers will make their business offices a collection agency for the funds and food for the starving nation; and these same public men will be the first and largest contributors. So it would seem that the starvation of a nation within our reach is an impossibility.

Pleasant Grove News

Several from this section attended United States court at Greenville last week.

James and Frank Phillips were visitors in this section last week. Calvin Barker went to Greenville last week on a visit to relatives. Theold man states that he enjoyed his trip fine.

Well, Mr. Editor, the fertilizer problem is being handled wisely in this section, we think. About half as much will be used this year as last year.

A. T. Fortner has planted for this year four acres in molasses cane, and most of the other farmers around here will plant big patches.

A milk cow belonging to Mrs. J. P. Anders died last Sunday.

William Hardin died at his home in this section April 15, after an illness of about four weeks. Paralysis was the cause of his death. The burial took place the day following at the family burying ground near his home, the funeral services being conducted by his pastor, Rev. J. E. Foster. Mr. Hardin was about 60 years old and a Christian gentleman. He was a deacon of Pleasant Grove church. He is survived by a widow, who before her marriage was Miss Sarah Magathy, and the following children: Oliver, Norvin, Vardry and Mrs. Marie Grice, all of whom live here. Mr. Hardin will be greatly missed from our community and we extend our sympathy to the bereaved ones in their hour of trouble. He told his family just a few days before his death that he was ready and willing to go.

FARMER.

Don't forget to read the advertisements this week. It may save you money.

COW AND HER PRODUCT

[These notes are prepared by the dairy division of Clemson College, which will be glad to answer any questions pertaining to dairying.]

Calves need plenty of sunlight and good pasture to mature properly.

If you sell butter, sell it in attractive packages. People will pay more for it that way.

A fall calf becomes a producer when milk and butter are most valuable. Remember this in breeding.

You cannot afford to take chances with typhoid fever. Screen the milkhouse thoroughly and keep flies out.

Bloody milk is due to injury to the udder. To remedy, wash the udder carefully with warm water and apply lard or vaseline.

Succulent, or green, feed is more easily digested than dry feed. It keeps the digestive system in better condition and also stimulates the appetite.

A profitable cow may make enough to support herself and the boarders too. But why have boarders? Put all to the barbecue test. It never makes a mistake.

Dairy cows should be fed all the roughage they will eat up clean and as much other feed as they will consume without taking on weight.

A one-legged milking stool, made with straps that fasten about the waist and hold the seat in place, is simple, easy to make and handle, sanitary and comfortable.

Butter should be churned until the globules are about the size of grains of wheat. This allows the butter to be washed well, which removes all buttermilk and makes the butter keep longer.

A calf should be taught to drink from a bucket within three or four days after birth. This will be better for the calf and will be very much better from the standpoint of the dairy's production.

The utensils used for milk and cream should never be used for anything else and should be carefully scalded before using. Sunning is also good, since sunshine kills bacteria. Unclean pails and pans mean dirty milk, full of disease germs. Keep milk clean.

HAVE YOU a telephone in your house? If so, call the Pickens Hardware and Grocery Co. when in need of anything for the table. If not, send the children. We assure you that they will receive our usual and prompt attention the same as a grown person. Phone 30.

Walk-Over Oxfords

WALK-OVER is a name that means something in Shoes. No man pays four or five dollars merely to have his feet covered with leather. He can do that for less money. WALK-OVER Shoes and Oxfords cost $3.50, $4.00, $4.50 and $5.00, because there is that much good material, good judgment and taste put in to them. They are the best Shoes at their price made anywhere. ∴ Oxfords are the proper thing for summer wear and for men who want something up-to-the-minute in style as well as comfort. We would recommend a pair of WALK-OVER Oxfords. It is the one shoe that is safe to save on. Better leather has never been tanned that goes into WALK-OVER Shoes and Oxfords.

Remember the name, "Walk-Over"—it is as soft to the feet as its name is to the tongue.

And the Price, $3.50, $4.00, $4.50 and $5.00

Delightful Party

The first party of the season was given at the home of Mr. B. T. McDaniel Tuesday night by his son, B. F. The party was given in honor of the P. H. S. track team and about twenty-five of their friends were present. The night being perfect the party was held in the yard and resembled an old-time lawn party. Miss Francis Bruce added much merriment to the guests by piano music and several of the boys by their songs with banjo accompaniment. During the evening delicious ice cream was served by the host and Miss Clara Smith.

The perfect night, music and hospitality of the host made the evening much too short, but about eleven o'clock the guests departed after having spent a most delightful evening.
